

Welcome to the Jefferson County Historical Society's new Blog.

We are excited to add this feature to our website, and we welcome our members and friends to post stories of interest. The Blog is intended for short articles (250 – 1,000 words) about local historical people, places and events.

Please follow the guidelines below and submit your stories to:
outreach-jchc@windstream.net

Submission Guidelines:

- Include submitter's name address, phone number and e-mail address.
- Articles should be 250–1000 words in length.
- Include a brief personal bio at the end of your article.
- Check your article for accuracy and include source information if needed.
- Photos are welcome. Please send in .jpg format and ensure that there are no copyright restrictions. All photos must have a credit included. The JCHS may be able to help with images from our collection.
- Our staff time is limited. Please check your article for proper spelling, punctuation, and grammar. Grammarly (www.grammarly.com) is a free program that can check your article and suggest corrections where needed.
- Previously published articles and excerpts from books are acceptable, but the name of the source publication must be included.
- Writers will retain all rights to their articles (except JCHS Archival items, if included).